- The Construction Leadership Council hosted its second ENGAGE Leadership Series speaker event on Monday, November 6 at Bridgeport Brewing in Portland. The presenters were Chris Herndon, high performance coach and president of Full Cup Coaching and Pat Casey, head coach of Oregon State University baseball.
 - The number of RSVPs reached the venue's maximum capacity (115) and on the day of the event there was a 40-person waitlist.
 - The actual headcount for the event (not including AGC staff) was 96 attendees.
 - Total cost for the Bridgeport venue (including room rental, food and beverage costs, and usage of preferred A/V vendor) was $4,576.05.
 - The event was recorded by a professional videographer and is in the process of being edited as of today's date. We will be posting the video on the CLC website page as soon the video is completed and the web page is created.
 - Feedback from this event was overwhelmingly positive and individuals are eager for the next speaker event in 2018.
- The Central Oregon Area Council hosted its second-ever event with the Bend Regional Legislative Dinner on Thursday, November 9 at 10 Barrel Brewing in Bend.
 - The final headcount for the event was 28 attendees. There were a high number of non-member companies in attendance (9) and two of those companies have expressed sincere interest in joining AGC.
 - Attendees had the opportunity to network and participate in a Q&A session with two local elected officials (Senator Tim Knopp and House Republican Leader Mike McLane).
- We have had three new members join in November and as of today's date, the chapter's overall membership is at 813.
